Pikeville College

Pikeville, Ky.

Dedication

In the days of old, King Arthur founded the Table Round and dedicated its services to Humanity; so is this, The Highlander of Nineteen Hundred Thirty-One, dedicated to that Ideal of Service to Humanity which is the foundation of Pikeville College and which is the one Goddess to which all Institutions must be dedicated if they are to endure.

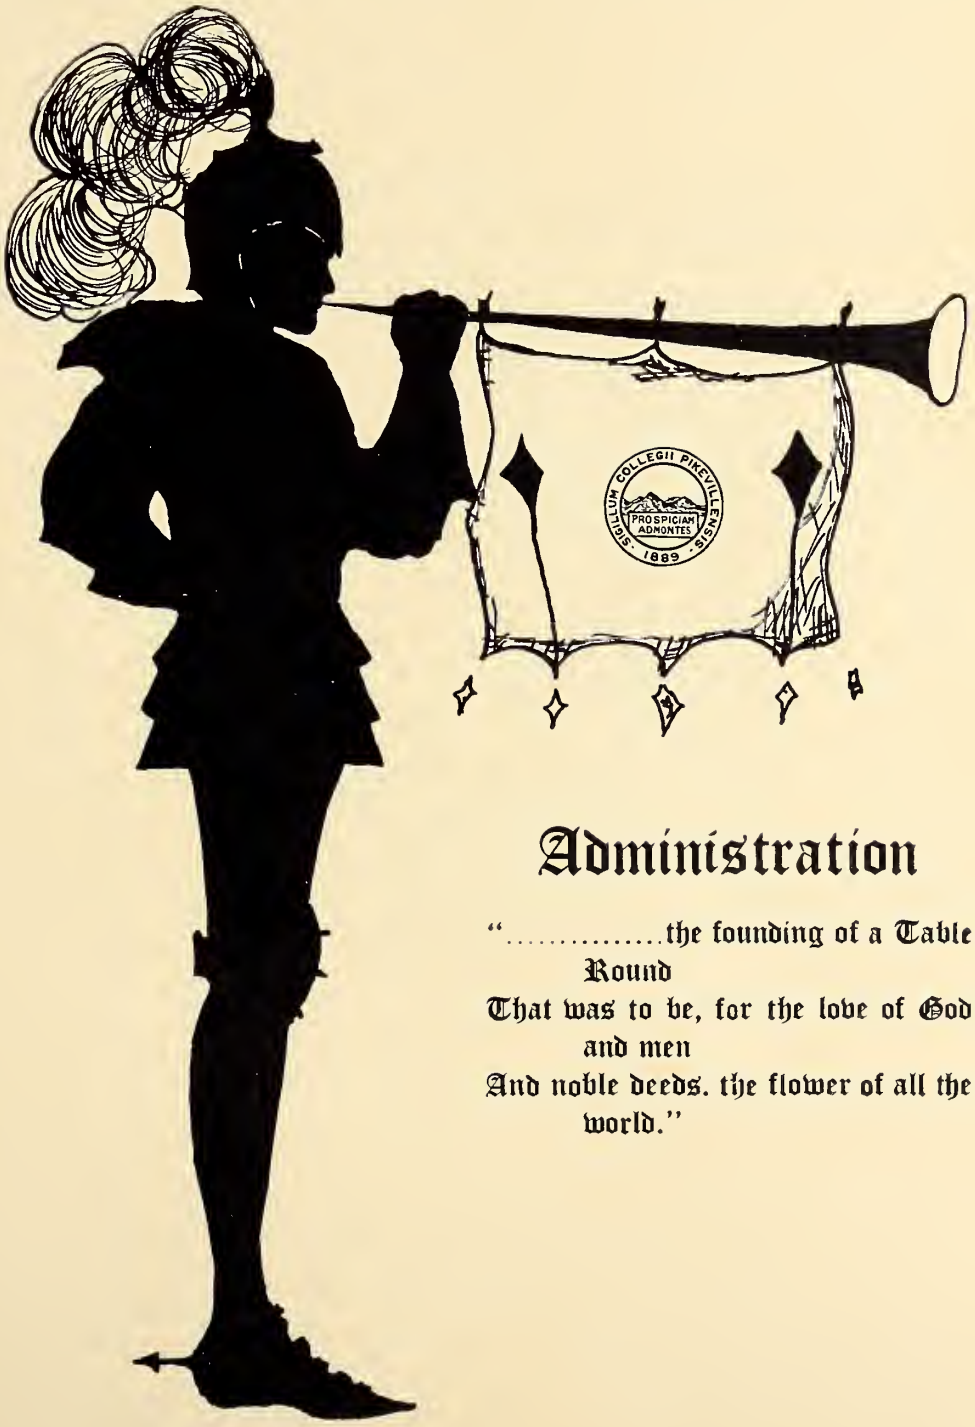

Foreword

Realizing its limitations and inabilities, the Staff of Thirty-One has endeavored in spite of them, to present in an interesting way the history of Pikeville College of this year; it has endeavored to bring out the spirit and aspirations which dominate the school and the student body; to portray that spirit of sportsmanship which is the pride of Pikeville College.

Memory

In the vales of my memory
Are lovely castles and towers
That were builded long ago
In my idle, childhood hours.

They stand so grand, so majestic—
Like relics in some museum;
Some of them are vivid and real,
Others are misty and dim.

In these halls of silent remembrance
I've stored my greatest treasures;
There I go when all alone,
And meet with sincere pleasures.

There I meet with many friends
And find my joys and pains,
And in some bright, secluded spot
Find my classmates' gilded names.

There I stop to have a chat
Of times of long ago,
And with myself and them I talk
Of things we used to know.

Then we call the roll again,
But in a solemn voice;
And should there be no silent names
Together we'll all rejoice.

In the fall of nineteen thirty
There entered in Pikeville College
A mighty band of Freshmen
Seeking Fun and Knowledge.

Freshmen

Grayden Akers, Leila Mae Akers, Ted Akers, Joe Amick, Ruth Anderson, J. M. Arnett.

Mary Auxier, Ollie Baker, Iva Alice Barrett, Ethel Begley, Hazel Belcher.

Ival Belcher, Pebble Belcher, Laura Jean Beverly, Mildred Blackburn, Belma Blanton May, Ethel Boyd.

All through the dreamy Autumn days
They played and worked by turns;
Obeyed the Sophs and bore the curse
That every Freshman earns.

Freshmen

Margaret Boyd, Norman Burke, Willa Ann Butcher, Emma Burnette, George Caudill, Greeley Chaney.

Mrs. Herbert Chaney, Hassel Charles, Opal Charles, Acy Childers, Gypsy Childers.

John Childers, Bertha Childress, Mabel Clark, Charline Coleman, Creatie Coleman, Ernest Coleman.

They romped gaily off at Christmas time,
Leaving their books behind,
But when they returned and test time came
Loose books were hard to find.

Freshmen

James Coleman. Mae Coleman, Oma Coleman, Riley Collins, Columbus Compton, Nora Conn.

Avenelle Cooley, Raymond Cooley, Hazel Crain, Carlie Avis Crum, Vergil Curry.

Clyde Damron, Gladys Damron, Pluma Damron, Girdell Dingus, Florence Donley, Alma Dotson.

And when the second half began
Our mighty class became
The double of its former size—
Hard times were much to blame.

Freshmen

Elva Elswick, Clarence Flanery, Mabel Fleming, Gwynne Ford, Webble Francisco, Merl Fuller.

Lowell Gilliam, William Goodson, Virgil Gray, Frank Hall, Georgia Hall.

Graham Harris, Kolo Harrison, Thomas Hill, Charlotte Hinkle, Helen Hinkle, Reta Howard.

The classes were filled to the bursting point;
There was confusion in the hall.
More teachers were ordered and seats secured
And the College took care of them all.

Freshmen

Mousie Hylton, Lillian Jackson, Esta Jenkins, Mignon Jones, Beatrice Kelly, Myrtle Kelly.

Clara Kendrick, Sally Kimbler, Naomi Lemon, Annie Laurie Leslie, Emma Lou McClure.

Lundy McCoy, Elberta Martin, Gertrude Maynard, Mae Burke Maynard, Stuart Moore, Ben Mullins.

The newer half of our mighty crowd
Did what the teachers said they should,
While the older half of this same band
Looked quietly on and understood.

Freshmen

Clara Mullins, Eivens Mullins, Edmund Murphy, Etta Osborne, Nina Mae Parker, Susie Parks.

Lawrence Parsons, Authelia Pauley, Doris Penix, Haskell Pinson, Opal Preston.

Ocea Ramey, Victor Ratliff, Mrs. Dewey Randolph, John Reynolds, Mary Hager Reynolds, Freddie Riddle.

But Spring came 'round and the Campus green
With its stone wall looked inviting.
The quest for knowledge was left for fun,
And a quest far more exciting.

Freshmen

Adam Roberts, Charles Roberts, Norabelle Roberts, Pebble Roberts (not in picture), Ranel Roberts, Mrs. Ruth Roberts.

Ernest Scott, Frank Scott, Grayson Self, Bessie Smallwood, Draxie Smallwood.

Mrs. Elkie Smith, Maxie Smith, Opal Spears, Helen Spurr, Jessie Stafford, Opal Stafford.

Romance lingered and the days rolled by
While they rollicked and played at work:
Till final exams with a cruel revenge
Decided that they couldn't shirk.

Freshmen

Jetta Stratton, Ida Stumbo, Robert Sword, Myrtle Tackett, Clyde Taylor, Glenn Thornbury.

Bill Thacker, Verna Tolliver, Mollie Trivette, Ercel Vanover, Ruby Wade.

Zelma Waltz, Kelsie Ward, Hurst Webb, Ertel Whitt, Raymond Wolford.

Now some are Sophs and some are not;
But P. C., how can you stand
Another bunch like this has been—
This mighty Freshman band?

Freshmen's Ascent

Our happy days as Freshmen have come to a close—for the most of us. We think that we have had the best class that has ever graced the Pikeville College Campus. We came out for knowledge and a good time, and think that we have finished the year with plenty of both. Will these parties with our condescending superiors (the Sophs) ever be forgotten? Plenty of pep, good sportsmanship, good scholarship, snappy boys, pretty girls—Freshmen of 1931. Yes, our happy Freshman days are over but may we look forward and not backward; and in that future may we, turning to this page, remember the "good old days" when we were only "the frosh'.'

The Class of Thirty-One

We are the class of Thirty-one,
The class that is the best.
We've labored hard to reach our goal,
And never stopped for rest.
We've never boasted nor shouted in praise
Of our victories that never were won;
But found through the labor that's lighted our days,
That the winning of them only is fun.

We've guided our ship through the harbor reefs
To the haven of rest beyond.
Will we rest? No, never! 'Twill never be,
For our watchword is, "Onward, and on!"
We've builded our hopes on labor alone
To guide us o'er the raging main;
To the goal of our life, to the end of our strife,
To a "Character!" not fame.

Our crashing discords in the years that've passed,
Will chime in the years to come.
For who could win 'gainst the fighting vim
Of the class of "Thirty-One"?
With spirits undaunted, success we haunted—
It's for us of "Thirty-One"
To show that we can, with our fighting hand,
Win a victory that's never been won.

—Fred Blevins.

Class History

In ye yeer of our Lord Nineteen Hundred twenty Eyte, forty-six "Freshies" adorned ye Campus of ye olde Junior High. We elected Glima Hughes ye President; Jack Canella ye Vice President; Helen Stanley ye Secretary and Treasurer; Fanny Mae Howell ye Reporter and Louise Landrum ye Sponsor. This class was recognized throughout ye whole school as ye "peppiest" class P. C. A. hadde ever known. Ye main diversion of ye Freshman class was ye many skating parties in which some managed to keep an upright position—and some—? In ye Spring we entertained ye Sophs with a picnic which everyone enjoyed.

In ye yeer of our Lord Nineteen Hundred Twenty Nine ye class diminished to twenty-five members. After having settled down to hard work we hadde a class meeting and elected ye following officers: Ye President, Jack Canella; ye Vice President, Billy Hambley; ye Secretary, Ruth Repass; ye Treasurer, Jetta Lee Huffman; ye Sergeant-at-arms, Billy Burke, and ye Class Sponsor, Louise Landrum.

Ye Class labored with suche earnestness at our studies that time for ye parties and ye picnics was lacking, but in May, during Sophomore week ye Class hadde a theater party with ye evening meal afterwards. Ye Sophomore Commencement was a fitting close for ye last yeer at ye Junior High.

Ye yeer of our Lord Nineteen Hundred Thirty found ye Classe at ye Senior High—what a time they hadde finding class rooms and going up and down ye proper stairways. Ye Classe increased this yeer, having thirty-six members. All ye classe did was work—work—work. And who wouldn't work, with ye Lyceum Course and ye Junior Play! Our Presentation, "Diamonds and Hearts", was a complete success. In April ye classe displayed its Dramatic ability (?) in ye Mock Commencement. Of course everyone has heard how royally ye Juniors entertained ye Seniors with a banquet.

Ye officers of this busy yeer were: Ye President, Virginia Murrill; ye Vice President, Gene Thomas; ye Secretary, Doris Penix; ye Treasurer, Rebekah Amick; ye Reporter, Fanny Mae Howell; and ye Classe Sponsor, Miss Clara Houseworth.

Ye yeer of our Lord Nineteen Hundred Thirty-one found ye twenty-five high and mighty Seniors just stepping up on ye last rung of ye ladder.

Ye officers of this last yeer were: Ye President, Fanny Mae Howell; ye Vice President, Clemons Brackett; ye Secretary, Jack Canella; ye Treasurer, Jetta Lee Huffman; ye Reporter, George Brewer; and ye Classe Sponsor, Miss Bess Alice Owens.

Ye Senior Classe has some chance of winning ye silver cup. Ye Senior Quintet conquered ye College Freshies during ye Intramural Athletic Tournament—who won't remember? (Lest ye forget—17-14). Ye classe enjoyed many picnics and parties during ye last month of school.

Ye Senior Classe night ye Seniors presented a modernized version of "Ye Merchant of Venice".

Thursday, June 4th—Happy, yet sorry to leave ye Alma Mater.

Last Will and Testament

We, the Senior Class of P. C. A., county of Pike, and State of Kentucky, being of full age and sound mind and memory, do make, publish, and declare this to be our last will and testament, hereby revoking all wills by us heretofore made:

Item I: We direct that all our just debts and expenses be paid out of our estate as soon as practicable after the time of our departure.

Item II: The Senior boys will all the songs and jokes they haven't used in their minstrel, to the Junior boys, with their best regards.

Item III: The Virgil class will their horses to the Sophs, there being no Juniors worthy of so valuable a bequest.

Item IV: Rebekah Amick wills her vast knowledge of French to Ira Frasier; he needs it.

The Juniors

The chief activity of the Juniors has been their production of "Robin Hood". Add to this the very active effort needed to procure the necessary cash to pay for the Lyceum Course, and they do not feel that they have been entirely idle through the year. Do not such quotations as the following recall the fun the Juniors had in producing

"Robin Hood
or
The Merry Outlaws of Sherwood Forest"

"Our forest air doth lose its sweetness from you presence."
—Robin Hood (Harry Coleman)

"The little maid I knew was sweet and tender."
Said of Lady Marion (Marjorie Trivette)

"I have the heart of a lion, but-er-but—"
High Sheriff of Nottingham (Garred Cline)

"Now yield thee, Robin Hood."—Guy (James Murrill).

"Sweet Robin, just one little love tap."—Friar Tuck (Billy Hambley).

"What dreadful sameness does lie in women."
—Little John (Robert Hatfield)

"O woe is me! Alack-aday!"—Dorothy (Ruth Trent).

"Mistress Dorothy—"—Hugh (Ira Frazier).

"Now out upon thee for an idle, foolish baggage."
—Lady Jane (Virgie Sanders)

"How now! What is that?"—Nan (Myrtle Meade).

"I had no thought till now that wisdom and I so well agreed."
—Ruth (Louise Stratton)

"I pledge thee my word as a true knight."
—Sir Richard of the Lea (Francis Moles)

"Take the gold, but spare me that awful din."
—Bishop of Fairdale (Fred Fields)

"Half for the treasury of our band—half for the poor whom cruel laws have ruined."

—The Outlaws: Little John (Robert Hatfield), Alan-a-Dale (Alvis Coyle), Friar Tuck (Billy Hambley), Will Scarlet (Eugene Hatfield), David of Doncaster (Gether Irick), Midge the Miller (Hansel Blackburn).

The class was sorry to lose from its members at the end of the first semester Ruth Trent to the Seniors and Virgie Sanders, called away by illness in the home. It was glad to welcome into its number Kelly Daniels, Carles Hess, Willie Hunt, Cornia Osborne, Flora Irick, Bernice Vest, and Charles Justice thus bringing its number up to twenty-two.

Extra-curricular Activities

Believing that no student is educated who learns from books only, the faculty and student body have sponsored a variety of extra-curricular activities which meet the abilities and inclinations of all the students. The Y. W. C. A., which was organized here for the first time this year, has been most successful. Every Tuesday night meetings of a practical and inspirational character are held. The party given by the Y. W. girls for the "male" students of the College and the Academy is a well remembered social event.

The Girls' Glee Club has maintained its regular schedule of practice. They were not able to make a trip this year but have answered several local calls for their services.

The Home Economics Club is another new new organization of the year. The department has been greatly enlarged and the increased numbers have added enthusiasm. Its affiliations with other Home Economics Associations of wider range have added much to the interest of the work.

"Der deutche Verein" and "Les Portes Flambeaux" represent the German and French departments of the College. They have been a source of profit as well as pleasure to the members, making these languages more alive. One of the chief activities of Les Portes Flambeaux is the correspondence its members carry on with French students of France. This leads to a better understanding of the French people and the French language, and makes the study of French more interesting.

The Record has maintained a high standard of excellence for the year and has been raised a point in scholastic rating. Its monthly numbers have always been welcomed by the students.

The Sandpaper, an unofficial student publication, lived for only one semester, yet for that short period it was remarkably successful.

The Valentine Carnival was a new feature introduced by the Highlander Staff to assist in raising funds for the snapshot section of the Annual. The crowning feature of the carnival was the play, "At the Court of St. Valentine", where high carnival was held before St. Valentine (Byrd Cox) and the Queen of Hearts (Irene Syck). These characters were chosen by popular vote of the school. Other characters of the play were the grouchy Lord High Chamberlain (Joe Amick) and Jingle (Billy Hambley), the court jester. Representatives of the different grades appeared in dances in honor of St. Valentine on his birthday.

Two plays must be mentioned among the activities of the year. The Junior Play, "Robin Hood", was a most enjoyable production, taking one back to the merry life among the outlaws and their loved hero. The Junior High students, in their play, "Farm Folks", charmed their audience in the presentation of the quaint characters of the cast.

The last event before going to press, one which is acclaimed as the greatest laugh-getter yet, is the minstrel given by the "Coonville Jubilee Singers", alias the boys of the Senior class. In this they not only demonstrated well their ability as actors, but showed real musical ability.

Cheer Leaders

FRANK SCOTT

VIRGINIA WALTERS

DEWEY HONAKER

A clever demonstration in cheer leading resulted in the election of Virginia Walters, Frank Scott and Dewey Honaker as pep directors for this year. Scott was soon withdrawn from cheer leading to take his place with the Bears, leaving to Virginia and Dewey the job of directing the pep work of the school. They proved themselves patient, tireless and inspiring in their efforts. The cheering under their guidance has been excellent, and has contributed in no small measure to the success of the season. New songs and yells have been learned and novelty features have been introduced. Perhaps the greatest achievement has been the purchase of a new piano for the gymnasium.

It is entirely fitting that the official College Letter, embellished by the megaphone, be awarded to these two who have so loyally and faithfully stayed on the job during the season of '30-'31.

Bears

Ralph Waddell.....Coach

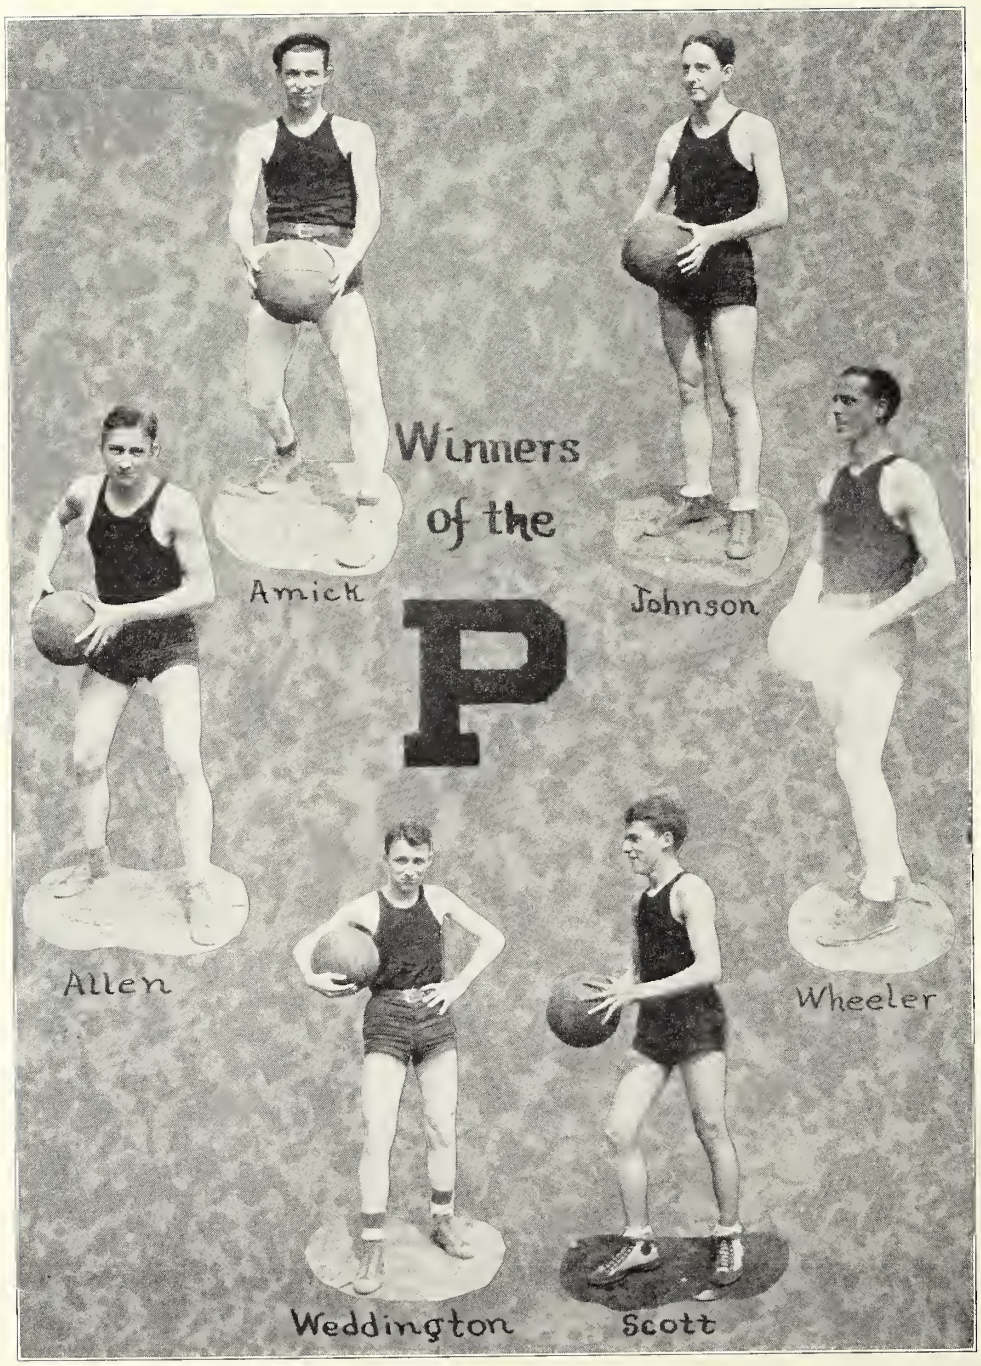

Hallard Wheeler.....Captain

Homer Bartley.....Manager

Virgil Gray, guard; Reuben Allen, guard; Malcolm Johnson, forward; Grayson Self, center; Herman Ramey, guard; Ben Mullins, guard.

Mr. Waddell, coach; Frank Scott, forward; Tac Weddington, forward; Hallard Wheeler, center; Joe Amick, guard; Homer Bartley, guard.

The increase in the number of men in College has brought out a correspondingly greater number on the basketball floor. The first team with the subs has made an aggregation of splendid players who could be interchanged without detriment to the game. Only Wheeler, Johnson, Bartley and Weddington are lost by graduation. Next year's team should, therefore, be a strong combination, and optimism prevails among the basketball fans as to the outlook for the coming season.

The Cubs responded nobly to the excellent training given by Coach Waddell, and produced a squad that did brilliant work throughout the season. Not all the games brought victories; but the boys played a hard, consistent game. Much praise is due to the subs, without whose faithfulness in practice the accomplishments of the team would not have been possible.
